PROTEST AGAINST LOCAL BOND ISSUE SOLDIERS' BONUS PROPOSED IN BILL

D. L. Prall Appears Before State Tax Board to Remonstrate Against Post Lighting System.

REFUSES TO FILE PETITION MILITARY AND NAVAL FORCES

Commission Announces That Decision Will Not Be Given Until Investigation is Made.

By United Press

Indianapolis, September 13—Alleging that he represented ninety percent of the people of Seymour, D. L. Prall, a resident of that city, today appeared before the state tax board with a protest against a proposed bond issue of $10,000 to pay for an electric post lighting system on seven blocks in the business district of Seymour. The petition asking permission for the city to issue the bonds for that purpose was filed about two weeks ago by John M. Lewis, Seymour city attorney, and Mayor C. W. Burkart. Prall's verbal remonstrance was filed at the hearing on the petition. City Attorney Lewis told Major Craguns, before whom the hearing was conducted, that he was confident that Prall's objection was not made in behalf of the majority of the Seymour residents, and that the Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club had endorsed the proposed improvement.

Following the arguments the commissioner announced that a very thorough investigation would be made and that it might be several days before a decision is given.

Shortly after the hearing convened, Mr. Prall told Craguns that he had with him a petition signed by a large number of taxpayers in Seymour who requested that the application of the city for the bonds be refused. Prall stated that the petition which he had represented the views of about ninety percent of the people in Seymour. He refused to file the petition, however, as he declared that some of the signers were fearful lest they would be boycotted by those in favor of the post lighting system. The names of the signers to the alleged remonstrance which Prall said he had with him were not made public and were not filed with the state tax board at the hearing today.

Mr. Lewis, city attorney, answered Prall, stating that he thought a big majority of the people in Seymour were in favor of the post lighting system. The city was also represented by Mayor C. W. Burkart. Judge Lewis told the board that the bonds would begin to mature in 1921 and that the increase in the tax rate to take care of them as they fell due and the interest on the securities would hardly be noticed.

COLORED BOY RETURNED HERE FROM CHICAGO

116 Stolen Knives and 10 Razors Are Recovered by Police—Case Goes to Juvenile Court.

Officer Charles Wallace arrived here early this morning from Chicago with Reginald Blackstone, 16 year old colored boy, who is wanted for stealing over two hundred knives and twelve razors from E. F. Johnson, a traveling representative of the Hibbard, Spencer-Bartlett Hardware Company. The goods were stolen from the sample room at the New Lynn hotel last June.

Blackstone admitted that he stole the knives and razors and told the police that he had left them with LeRoy Bentley, colored, at an old store room on West Tipton street, where a dry beer place was operated until a few weeks ago. The officers got hold of Bentley who is employed at the New Lynn barbershop and went to the building where they found one hundred and twelve knives and ten razors hidden. Bentley declared that he knew nothing about the knives being there. However, he told the officers that he had purchased a knife from Blackstone shortly before he left the city.

Blackstone told the officers that Bentley had nothing to do with stealing the cutlery but that he had agreed to dispose of it. Bentley declares that he had nothing to do with the knives and did not know they were there until found this morning.

Two hundred knives, twelve razors and three sample cases were stolen. Some of the knives were sold by Blackstone and it is under-

A Play Full of Laughs.

Mack Sennett's new five-part super-comedy "Yankee Doodle in Berlin" is full of uproarious laughs; but at the same time it exposes in a very striking way the brutality with which the German soldiers were treated by their officers. All the facts in this regard were carefully ascertained by the producer. Those who see this comedy will understand why the German officers pleaded so as not to be placed in the same prison camps with their men. At the Majestic Monday and Tuesday.

LOCAL MOTOR CLUB ASSISTS TOURISTS

Strangers Meet With Inconvenience
While Principal Roads Into City
Are Being Improved.

OTHER ROUTES ARE EXPLAINED

Letters Are Addressed to Louisville and Hoosier State Motor Clubs
—Signed Are Effected.

The Jackson County Motor Club, recognizing that tourists meet many inconveniences in entering the city because of the extensive highway improvements now in progress, has undertaken a campaign to assist strangers by directing them over roads which are in good condition. There has been a heavy increase in motor travel through this city and the service rendered by the Club will be appreciated by the tourists who are not familiar with existing conditions.

T. S. Blish, president of the Motor Club, has written letters to the Louisville and Hoosier State Automobile Clubs, explaining what roads are closed and what detours can be used until the main highways are reopened to traffic.

A large number of road signs have also been prepared and will be placed at proper road crossings, giving directions for passage through the County. J. E. Bartlett was engaged to prepare these signs and John Van de Walle is now placing them in position. All of the signs bear the name of the Jackson County Motor Club so that they will be authoritative. The Motor Club is anxious to render good service in this respect and will welcome any suggestions from home motorists or tourists as to how further services in this direction can be given. Below is a letter sent to the Louisville Motor Club giving directions for the best present route between Seymour and Crothersville. "Gentlemen:—

"On account of road construction east and south of Seymour we would call your attention to the detour given below, which we call the best route to Seymour for the time being.

"From Crothersville to Seymour the west road by way of Dudleytown should be taken. At the crest of Chestnut Ridge, two and one-half miles north of Dudleytown at a point of about 300 yards north of a frame church a left turn should be taken for a mile and a half over a good gravel but narrow road. At that point one and one-half mile west turn to the right for four hundred (400) yards crossing over the B. & O. railroad track, 200 yards north of the railroad track turn right into Seymour on Second street. For Indianapolis and the north continue on Second and Ewing streets thence north on to Rockford two miles. At this point choice can be made of the left either to Columbus by the way of Jonesville or the right turn to Columbus by the way of Azalia. The former is preferable at this time, but very soon new construction will begin on it and then the Azalia road will be necessary.

"Detour around the present construction is shown in green on the back hereof, the remainder of the route being shown in black."

WILSON REACHES CITIES ON COAST

Carries Campaign for Ratification of Treaty to Tacoma And Other Northwest Centers.

WANTS POLITICS ELIMINATED

President Declares That Republicans First Proposed League—Appeals To Members of The Party.

By United Press

Aboard President Wilson's Train Approaching Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 13—President Wilson today carried into the cities of the Pacific coast his campaign for ratification of the peace treaty. His plan called for a speech at Tacoma this morning and reviewing of the Pacific fleet at Seattle at 3 p. m. After a public dinner in Seattle tonight the President intended to speak at the arena. He will spend Sunday in Seattle, departing at night for Portland where he is due early Monday.

Wilson had the people up on their chairs cheering at Spokane yesterday when he made his appeal that the league of nations issue should be placed on a non-partisan basis. He said republicans first suggested the league; that republicans should be for it because they belong to that party and flatly asked that the 1920 presidential campaign be put of mind when the league is under consideration.

That the president deeply appreciated the rousing welcome he received in Spokane was shown in his smile, which was more in evidence than it had been during the two or three preceding days and in a manner which became more buoyant and enthusiastic. He appears to respond more quickly to a hearty greeting.

The war, he said, will not be ended until America's pledges have been fulfilled. He mentioned the sufferings of women, mothers and wives in the war and said "we promised the men who went out to fight that we would end war." Now the question is, he declared, "shall we carry out the pledge for which we fought?" He said he felt much touched that so many had come to meet him, "even though it is night and we cannot see each other clearly."

CONTRIBUTORS TO THE SEYMOUR BAND FUND

Local Merchants and Dealers Made Enjoyable Concerts at The Park Possible.

Adolph Steinwedel, leader of the Seymour Concert Band, has furnished a list of the contributors who made the enjoyable concerts at Shields park during the summer possible. "The members of the band are deeply appreciative of the liberality and assistance of these parties," said Mr. Steinwedel, speaking for the organization. "We feel sure that the public has enjoyed the midweek concerts. The large crowds which have attended are evidence of this. The band is grateful to the contributors for their assistance."

H. B. Henderson, County Superintendent, Busy with Problems of Taxation for 1920.

Harry B. Henderson, county superintendent, is collecting data relative to the probably tax levies for the various townships next year. The rates will be fixed within a few days and will be certified to the state board of tax commissioners as soon as possible. There has been some confusion as to what authority the trustees and advisory board have in establishing rates for their respective units, and recently the officials understood that the state board would not interfere with any rates that did not exceed $1.50 on the hundred dollars and would accept any levy that did not produce more revenue than this year.

A few days ago, however, Mr. Henderson was informed by a representative of the state board that any rate, even if it was less than $1.50, that produced more revenue than was raised this year would have to be reviewed by the state board before it could become official. Most of the trustees will have to have more money in 1920 than they had this year, because of increased teachers' salaries and other expenses which are mounting higher and higher. As a result most of them will have to go before the tax board, either in person or by representative, and explain why the increase is necessary.

"The state board may come at the trustees in two different ways," said Mr. Henderson. "If the levy is more than $1.50 or if the revenue exceeds that raised this year special permission must be obtained from the board. A representative of the board told me a few days ago and the trustees should be prepared to explain just where every penny of the increased revenue will go and why the same revenue will not meet the needs in 1920. This means that the trustees and the educational department of the count will have much additional work in preparing the information to the satisfaction of the state board.

The state board will hear the petitions for increased taxes at its office in the state capitol on Monday, September 22. The reports from the trustees must be filed with the board before September 15, the law provides.

The same perplexing problems that are confronting the trustees are also baffling the city authorities in their attempt to fix the tax rate. However, city officials believe that they will be able to keep the revenue within the bounds of this year and in case they succeed a petition will not go to the state board.

LINN COUNTY, MO., READY TO GREET GEN. PERSHING

American Commander to Visit His Home Town in Near Future.

By United Press

Laclede, Missouri, Sept. 13—“Johnny” Pershing is home and Linn County is a beehive.

Knighted and titled by European crowned heads; honored and glorified by President Wilson and congress and praised and peted by the nation, General Pershing will be welcomed back to his birthplace. The date is not definite. General Pershing, responding to Mayor Edmund B. Allen's cablegram, “Laclede, your old home, your boyhood friends and Linn County is calling you,” replied “I have heard the call. Will be there soon after my arrival in the United States.”

And then Laclede went to work, preparing the home-coming. When “Johnny” comes home to Laclede it will be a simple affair. There'll be no Caesar's victorious return to Rome. “He's going to be just plain ‘Johnny’” and that is just what he will want to be, Mayor Allen said, giving the keynote of the celebration. “Lord knows he's been ‘generalized’ enough this time, and ‘Johnny’ is going to sound powerfully good to him.”

So Laclede is planning: singing, shouting, handshaking and music and much oratory followed by a fried chicken dinner “on the ground” when Johnny's in town.

The Pershing family will reunite after the celebration. James Pershing, a brother of Chicago; their two sisters, Miss May Pershing and Mrs. Bessie Butler of Lincoln, Neb., will meet again in the old Pershing home, here.

“Aunt” Susan Hewett, who baked apple pies for the general when he was a barefoot boy, will be a guest. “Aunt” Louisa Warren, who officiated at the birth of Pershing and first bathed and clothed him, will be another guest of honor. George F. Davis, aged resident of Quincy, Ill., will be another honored guest. Davis gave Pershing his first job in Laclede—that of section boss. Prof. Smith of Chillicothe, Mo., the living member of the committee giving examinations when Pershing won his appointment to West Point, also will be a guest. Nearly a score of boy-chums will attend.

Secretary of War Baker and governors of Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Arkansas have been invited.

Gold swords from the world powers, crosses of war and other costly gifts of recognition will be mere gew-gaws and trinkets in the life of Pershing on home-coming day. He will receive a photograph and a revolver. The photograph—faded and worn and fifty years old—was a picture of Pershing's mother. It was found recently in an old album belonging to J. H. Hamilton of Laclede. Jordon Parks, a negro, will make

SOLDIERS DO NOT NEED LICENSES TO HUNT AND FISH

Attorney General Stansbury Gives Opinion That It is Not Necessary to Carry Papers.

Ele Stansbury, attorney general of Indiana, has advised George Mansfield, chief of the state game and fish commission that the department should not adopt a hard and fast rule requiring soldiers and sailors to carry their discharge papers with them or wear service buttons when they hunt without licenses.

The attorney general has held that the world war veterans have the privilege of hunting and fishing in Indiana without license in accordance with the 1919 law granting them rights already granted to soldiers of previous wars and that there is nothing in the laws that requires them to carry papers showing they are ex-soldiers or ex-sailors. The attorney general has advised that the proof that they were former soldiers or sailors is another matter and not within the scope of the commissioner's power.

RETAIL PRICES OF FOOD INCREASING

Jump From One-fifth to Eight Cents

Per Sales Unit on Hams, Pork Chops and Other Commodities.

REPORT FILED FOR AUGUST

Prices Paid Producers and Farmers Declined Slightly During Period, Statement Reveals.

Washington, September 13—Retail food prices went up during August and are still mounting, despite the government's campaign to reduce the cost of living, according to price figures collected by two government departments covering practically every section of the country. At the same time both wholesale prices and prices paid to producers have dropped, the government reports indicate.

In fifteen cities retail prices were increased from one-fifth to eight cents per sales unit on ham, sirloin steaks, butter, eggs, potatoes and pork chops, according to preliminary reports to the statistical bureau of the labor department for August.

During the same month the level of prices paid producers and farmers decreased three and four-tenths percent, according to an announcement made by the department.

Decreases in wholesale prices for August as compared with July are shown in reports to the bureau of markets, which found that:

Wholesale butter prices went down nearly three per cent in New York and one per cent in Chicago. Potatoes decreased twenty per cent in New York and three per cent on Chicago wholesale markets.

"Good steer loin," dressed cuts, decreased 4½ cents per pound in Boston; three cents in New York and nearly the same in Philadelphia.

Good steer loin is the trade name for the cut from which sirloin steak comes. But the decrease of three cents per pound wholesale was not reflected in retail prices which, according to the labor department reports, shows an increase in the average price charged by retailers there. The increase averaged slightly less than one cent per pound.

Increases far outnumbered decreases in retail prices for August, as compared with July, according to figures collected by the labor department.

Retail price figures of the department are based on prices charged by at least 25 dealers in each city canvassed. An increase of a fraction of a cent per sales unit thus may represent an increase of several cents on the part of many dealers.

The Man of The Hour....

You know him,—at least you have heard about him and you will hear more of him.

He's the sort of fellow who as a young man laid out his scheme of life and followed it through.

During the war he put his money into Liberty bonds instead of squandering it with so-called "good fellows."

He saved his money and is a national asset not a public liability. He is a saver of money, of vitality, of self respect.

He has faith in himself and in his country. He banks on the future. So he knows he must bank in the present.

He saves what he can each week. He saves regularly and watches it grow. He cannot help succeeding because he has the habit of saving systematically.

His savings placed in our savings department bring him 3 per cent. interest. His regular checking account has careful attention at our bank. His valuable papers are absolutely safe in our fireproof, burglar-proof vault.

STRIKING POLICEMEN IN BOSTON READY TO RETURN

Authorities, However, Are Not Inclined to Reinstate Them—Order Restored by Troops.

By United Press

Boston, September 13—Although the striking police last night voted to return to duty and the standing they had before the strike, Police Commissioner Curtis, has notified the department that none of the strikers can return "under any circumstances." With Governor Coolidge opposed to reinstatement of any of the police on the ground that in leaving their post they became deserters, it was considered unlikely that the authorities would grant concessions.

With normal conditions restored and the situation controlled by the state guards, the authorities today turned their entire attention to seeking a permanent solution.

MORE BURYING GROUND

Lots in Columbus Cemetery Are Being Rapidly Taken.

A suit has been filed in the Bartholomew circuit court by the Garland Brook Cemetery Association, at Columbus against Rudolph Schnir and wife for the condemnation and appraisement of 117 acres of land, owned by the defendants which adjoins the cemetery. Negotiations have been made for the land but that association and land owners have been unable to agree on the price. It is alleged in the complaint that the lots in Garland Brook cemetery are being rapidly taken and more ground is needed at once.

Mrs. Will Tabor and daughters, Madge and Marie, and Leo Nieland, motored to Louisville today to attend the Kentucky state fair.

GOLD STOLEN FROM DENTIST'S OFFICE

Bold Thief Enters Dr. Brunow's Laboratory in Seymour National Bank Building Friday.

MATERIALS VALUED AT $60.

Thief Makes Fruitless Attempt to Pry Door Open at Dr. Shinness' Office.

While Dr. A. F. Brunow was at dinner between 12 and 1 o'clock Friday noon, a bold thief entered his office in the Seymour National Bank building and made a get-away with about $60 worth of gold. An attempt was also made to break open a door at Dr. B. S. Shinness' office on Second street but the attempt at robbery there failed.

The thief evidently had a key that would fit the Yale lock on the laboratory door at Dr. Brunow's office as no marks were left that would indicate that he picked the lock. The gold was kept in a specially prepared case which prevented the escape of any of the valuable gold dust and the thief did not overlook any of it but took the dust along with the remainder of his booty.

The robbery was the fourth to have occurred at Dr. Brunow's office in the last four years. About four months ago a thief gained entrance to the office and made his get-away with gold valued at about $100. The office was robbed about two years ago and about four years ago. Dr. Brunow is of the opinion that the robbery has been committed each time by the same person who is evidently a professional thief. Following the robbery four months ago Dr. Brunow took especial precaution to prevent another one and equipped the door leading from his waiting room to the laboratory with a latch that fastened on the inside and the door leading to the hallway is equipped with a Yale lock. It is believed that the thief had a key that fit the lock.

After hearing of Dr. Brunow's office being robbed, Dr. B. S. Shinness recalled that the outside door leading to his office had been battered sometime Friday. However, he was inclined to believe that it had been done by a paperhanger who had been working at his office in moving ladders but further investigation proved that an attempt had been made to pry the door open. However, the thief failed to gain entrance.

The police have been notified of the robbery at Dr. Brunow's office and are making an investigation. It is the opinion of the local dentists that the robbery was committed by a person who follows the profession of robbing dentists' laboratories and that no local talent was connected with it.

WOMAN'S PAGE

Iced Coffee Beverages

The use of coffee to give body and flavor to iced summer beverages affords opportunity for an endless variety of interesting experiments. One woman writes that she has obtained surprisingly good results by mixing clear iced coffee with ginger ale, making the mixture about half and half. The majority of tastes, however, probably would prefer a larger proportion of ginger ale. Here are a few recipes which suggest what may be accomplished along these lines:

(Recipes By Marion Harris Neil)

ICED COFFEE CUP.

3 cups strong coffee, 2 tablespoons sugar, 3 tablespoons fruit juice, whipped cream.

Sweeten the coffee with the sugar and allow it to become very cold. Then freeze and when half frozen add the fruit juice and finish freezing. Serve in glasses with whipped and sweetened cream flavored with a few drops of vanilla extract on the top of each glass. Serve with lady-fingers.

ICED COFFEE.

Black coffee, vanilla extract, sugar, cream.

Strain the coffee, add vanilla extract and sugar to taste. Dilute with cream, chill and serve in tall glasses with three tablespoons chopped ice in each glass. If desired, a spoonful of coffee ice cream may be to each glass of iced coffee.

COFFEE NECTAR.

8 cups strong coffee, 2 cups sugar, lemon syrup, whipped cream.

Boil the coffee and the sugar together for fifteen minutes. Allow to chill thoroughly, pour into tall glasses, add to each glass one tablespoon of lemon syrup, one tablespoon of whipped cream and four tablespoons crushed ice.

To make the lemon syrup, mix two cupfuls of strained lemon juice with two cupfuls of water and two and one-half pounds of lump sugar. Add the grated rinds of the lemons used, then place in a saucepan and simmer very slowly until thick. Strain and bottle for use.

COFFEE FRUIT PUNCH.

8 cups strong coffee, 1½ cups sugar, 1 cup water, 3 lemons, 2 oranges, 1 can grated pineapple, 1 bottle Apollinaris water, ½ cup preserved cherries, cut in quarters.

Boil the sugar and the water for five minutes, add the coffee strained juice of the lemons and the oranges, then add the pineapple and allow to stand for one and one-half hours. Strain and add the Apollinaris water, one gallon of ice water and the cherries. Pour into a punch bowl over a large piece of ice. Serve in punch glasses with wafers or cake.

COFFEE WITH BARLEY.

4 tablespoons pearl barley, 6 cups strong coffee, 1 lemon, sugar.

Wash the barley, put it into a saucepan with cold water to cover it. Bring quickly to the boil, strain and rinse the barley in more water, put the barley back into the saucepan with coffee and the thinly peeled rind of the lemon. Allow to simmer gently for two and one-half hours. Then strain, add a little sugar if desired, and the strained juice of the lemon. Serve in tall glasses with three tablespoons of crushed ice in each glass.

This is a very light and nourishing drink and is usually a favorite with invalids.

Another method: Wash and blanch two tablespoons of pearl barley as in above recipe. Then put it into a pitcher, and pour one and one-half cups of coffee and one-half cup of boiling water over. Add the grated rind and strained juice of one-half lemon and four tablespoons of sugar. Cover over and let stand until cold, strain into glasses with two tablespoons of crushed ice added. Serve with macaroons.

Or, beat the yolks of three eggs with one tablespoon of cream, add one-half cup of fruit juice. Stir well and sweeten to taste. Strain and add crushed ice in each glass.

Best Sweet Peppers for Canning are Pimentos

The best sweet peppers for canning are the Spanish variety known as pimentos. The fruit of these peppers has a very thick flesh and tough skin and is comparatively smooth and free from ridges. Bell peppers are not a suitable variety to can. Only ripe, sound peppers free from bruises should be used. Can the whole peppers. The small or broken ones may be cut into strips and canned or used in relishes, sauces and soup mixtures.

Remove the seeds with a slender paring knife by cutting around the stem and taking out the inside partitions. To peel, roast the peppers in a hot oven from 6 to 10 minutes or until the skin blisters and cracks. Do not allow them to scorch. Remove skin with a sharp paring knife, flatten the peppers and pack in layers in a jar which has been boiled 15 minutes. No water or seasoning is used in the canning. The processing in the jar brings out a thick liquor which almost covers them.

Put in place the rubber and top which have been boiled. If a screw-top cover is used, screw about half way on; if a glass top with wire bails, put top in position and leave the lower clamp unfastened. Place jars on the false bottom in a water-bath canner. If the cover of the vessel in which the processing is done is not tight, water sufficient to cover the jars should be put in. Boil pint jars for 30 minutes, invert to test for leaks and, when cool, store in a cool, dark, dry place.

When a steam-pressure canner is used, process pints 10 minutes under an eight-pound steam pressure.—U. S. Department of Agriculture.

CLOTHES PIN BAG.

Among the many utility articles is the convenient clothes pin bag. The sunbonneted maid is just the motif for such a bag and it is all in outline except the dots which are in seed stitch. If the figure is in patchwork it is very interesting.

LACE INSERTION AND EDGE.

These block designs match the collar and cuff set already given, and is applicable to any piece of lingerie either used in connection with the set or separately.

10. Where and what is the Smithsonian Institution?

For Permanence in Equipment

Now that peace has come and we have so many of our boys back again, we begin to take stock of our household possessions. For two years, if not longer, we have kept saying, "We ought to have this, we really need that, but we will worry along until the war is over." The consequence is that now we find ourselves confronted with a number of imperative needs and it takes good judgement and a sense of proportion to decide between the conflicting claims. First of course come the things which contribute to the health and well-being of the family. Kitchen and bedrooms must be replenished before living-rooms and parlor get their share. Kitchen utensils mean so much, not only in convenience to the cook, but in wholesomeness to the food which comes out of them. It is a great thing to know that the porcelain surface of enameled ware secures us from all risk of action by acids. One can set away a "left-over" in an enameled ware saucepan quite sure the food can not be affected. As to its durability, the Canteens and the "huts" at the Front bear ample testimony, so in refurbishing our kitchen with this ware, we shall be making a permanent investment.

The experience had been grotesque, and he came away with an encouraging message from his father, who had failed to identify himself satisfactorily, but declared that everything was "on a higher plane" in his present state of being, and that all life was "continuous and progressive." Mrs. Horner spoke of herself as a "psychic," but otherwise she seemed oddly unpretentious and matter-of-fact; and Eugene had no doubt at all of her sincerity. He went to Mrs. Horner's after his directors' meeting today. He used the telephone booth in the directors' room to make the appointment; and he laughed feebly at himself, and wondered what the group of men in that mahogany apartment would think if they knew what he was doing. Mrs. Horner had changed her address, but he found the new one, and somebody purporting to be a niece of hers talked to him and made an appointment for a "sitting" at five o'clock.

Mrs. Horner appeared in the doorway, a wan and unenterprising looking woman in brown, with thin hair artificially waved—but not recently—and parted in the middle over a blushing forehead. Her eyes were small and seemed weak, but she recognized the visitor.

"Oh, you been here before," she said, in a thin voice, not unmusical. "I recollect you. Quite a time ago, wasn't it?"

"Yes, quite a long time."

"I recollect because I recollect you was disappointed. Anyway, you was kind of cross." She laughed faintly.

"I'm sorry if I seemed so," Eugene said. "Shall we—"

"All right," she assented, dropped into the leather chair, with her back to the shaded window. "You better set down, too, I reckon. I hope you'll get something this time so you won't feel cross, but I dunno. I can't never tell what they'll do. Well—"

She sighed, closed her eyes, and was silent, while Eugene, seated in the stiff chair across the table from her, watched her profile, thought himself an idiot, and called himself that and other names. And as the silence continued, and the impulsive woman in the easy-chair remained impulsive, he began to wonder what had led him to be such a fool. What had brought him back to this absurd place and caused him to be watching this absurd woman taking a nap in a chair? In brief: What the devil did he mean by it? He had not the slightest interest in Mrs. Horner's naps—or in her teeth, which were being slightly revealed by the unconscious parting of her lips, as her breathing became heavier.

Eugene Thought Himself an Idiot

How long was he going to sit here presiding over this unknown woman's slumbers? It struck him that to make the picture complete he ought to be shooting flies away from her with a palm-leaf fan.

Mrs. Horner's parted lips closed again abruptly, and became compressed; her shoulders moved a little, then jerked repeatedly; her small chest heaved; she gasped, and the compressed lips relaxed to a slight contortion, then began to move, whispering and bringing forth indistinguishable mutterings.

Suddenly she spoke in a loud, husky voice:

"Lopa is here!"

"Yes," Eugene said dryly. "That's what you said last time. I remember 'Lopa.' She's your 'control' I think you said."

"I'm Lopa," said the husky voice. "I'm Lopa herself."

"You mean I'm to suppose you're not Mrs. Horner now?"

"Never was Mrs. Horner!" the voice declared, speaking undeniably from Mrs. Horner's lips—but with such conviction that Eugene, in spite of everything, began to feel himself in the presence of a third party, who was none the less an individual, even though she might be another edition of the apparently somnambulistic Mrs. Horner. "Never was Mrs. Horner or anybody but just Lopa. Guide."

"You mean you're Mrs. Horner's guide?" he asked.

"Your guide now," said the voice with emphasis, to which was incongruously added a low laugh. "You came here once before. Lopa remembers."

"Yes—so did Mrs. Horner."

Lopa overlooked his implication, and continued quickly: "You build. Build things that go. You came here once and old gentleman on this side, he spoke to you. Same old gentleman here now. He tell Lopa he's your grandfather—no, he says 'father.' He's your father."

"What's his appearance?"

"How?"

"What does he look like?"

"Very fine! White beard, but not long beard. He says some one else wants to speak to you. See here, Lady. Not his wife, though. No. Very fine lady! Fine lady, fine lady!"

"Is it my sister?" Eugene asked.

"Sister? No. She is shaking her head. She has pretty brown hair. She is fond of you. She is some one who knows you very well, but she is not your sister. She is very anxious to say something to you—very anxious. Very fond of you; very anxious to talk to you. Very glad you came here—oh, very glad!"

"What is her name?"

"Name," the voice repeated, and seemed to ruminant. "Name hard to get—always very hard for Lopa. Name. She wants to tell me her name to tell you. She wants you to understand names are hard to make. She says you must think of something that makes a sound." Here the voice seemed to put a question to an invisible presence and to receive an answer. "A little sound or a big sound? She says it might be a little sound or a big sound. She says a ring—oh, Lopa knows! She means a bell! That's it, a bell."

Eugene looked grave. "Does she mean her name is Bebe?"

"Not quite. Her name is longer."

"Perhaps," he suggested, "she means that she was a belle."

"No. She says she thinks you know what she means. She says you must think of a color. What color?" Again Lopa addressed the unknown, but this time seemed to wait for an answer.

"Perhaps she means the color of her eyes?" said Eugene.

"No. She says her color is light—it's a light color and you can see through it."

"Amber?" he said, and was startled, for Mrs. Horner, with her eyes still closed, clapped her hands, and the voice cried out in delight:

"Yess! She says you know who she

"Yankee Doodle in Berlin."

Although it is an uproariously funny comedy, it is said that one of the most accurate representations of the Hohenzollern family ever shown on the screen is in Mack Sennett's new five-part super-comedy, "Yankee Doodle in Berlin." All the uniforms are actual war-worn soldier clothes that were worn in battle. Ford Sterling, who takes the part of the Kaiser spent several months on a study of the character of the All Highest. He also studied thousands of photographs. The result is a make-up so graphic that it would almost fool Mrs. Hohenzollern herself. Similar pains were taken by Mal St. Clair who takes the part of the Crown Prince and Brnt Roach, as General Von Hindenburg and Baldy Belmont as Von Tirpitz. Majestic Monday and Tuesday.

Flour is Cheap

Contrary to popular opinion, flour is far from the most expensive item in your loaf of bread. Cost of labor, overhead, distribution, etc., is what prohibits 5 cent bread.

The Friendly Church

What is life without friends? Can you imagine yourself friendless and in need? The man who is not closely related to a permanent society may experience such a fate. Friendships that endure are the friendships formed by uniting together in devoted service. The church is the foundation stone upon which true friendship is builded. The orphanage, the hospital, philanthropy and social service each derive their inspiration from the church. Would you like to live where none of these institutions are known? Then show your appreciation by attending services on the Lord's Day.

The Central Christian Church

INVITES YOU
TO ATTEND ALL SERVICES
SUNDAY, SEPT. 14th.

You will be made to feel very much at home. The great men of our day are regular church attendants. Field Marshall Haig recently said "The Greatest National Defense a nation can have is a faithful church going people." More than THIRTY MILLION people attend Bible School in this country every Sunday.
